Bomb Hurlled At Jewish Temple In Peoria, Ill.

No One Injured In Explosion; Damage Is Light

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A crude bomb hurled at the annex of a Jewish temple early today fell into an outside stairwell, exploded and shattered several windows in the three-story structure.

Damage to the rear annex of the Anshai Elmet Temple was termed "very small" by Rabbi Joseph Ginsberg, who serves the 700-member congregation. No one was in the temple or annex at the time, and there were no injuries. "Nothing like this has ever happened here before," said Rabbi Ginsberg. "The local situation with regard to our relations with the community has always been very good."

Police said the bomb was fashioned from a two-inch pipe several inches long with a two-foot fuse attached. The stairwell where it landed leads into the annex basement. Police reported the bombing had occurred about 12:30 a. m.

Robert Briscoe, former Jewish lord mayor of Dublin, will address a gathering at the Agudas Achim Synagogue in Peoria tonight, said Rabbi Ginsberg. He did not see any connection between the Briscoe appearance and the bombing.

Rabbi Ginsberg said that several years ago he served as chairman of the Peoria Mayor's Commission on Human Relations that helped desegregate a public housing project in this central Illinois city of 112,000.

"However, the project was carried out very successfully, and I fail to see how this could have had anything to do with the bombing," he said.

The temple, built in 1898, is five blocks from Peoria's downtown section. The annex was constructed in the 1920s, Rabbi Ginsberg said.

Rabbi Ginsberg, 47, came to Peoria 11 years ago from Dallas. Today's bombing was the fifth such incident at Jewish centers in the United States since mid-March.

Widow Is Sentenced To Death In Georgia

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Plump blonde Annette Donovan Lyles, convicted and sentenced to die for poisoning her daughter, awaited word from her attorneys today on chances for a new trial.

A Bibb County Superior Court jury convicted the 33-year-old widow of murder Monday night. Her attorneys immediately filed notice of appeal, and this automatically stayed the date of execution, which had been set for Dec. 5.

Mrs. Lyles is also accused by the state of poisoning two husbands and a mother-in-law with arsenic. She was tried only in the death of her 9-year-old daughter Marcia Elaine Lyles.

The former restaurant owner accepted the death verdict calmly. The only visible reaction was when her alabaster skin reddened and she bit her lip.

Judge Oscar Long set a precedent when he told Mrs. Lyles she might remain seated while sentence was pronounced.

Long set a hearing on the motion for a new trial for Dec. 12. If the buxom widow loses her appeal, she will be the first white woman to die in Georgia's electric chair. Only one woman, a Negro, has been electrocuted in this state.

In an unsworn statement allowed under Georgia law, Mrs. Lyles made a blanket denial of all the state's charges and in the specific case under which she was being tried, that of Marcia, maintained there was no motive.

She said she received only $1,750 from insurance while her expenses, including hospital bills, special nurses and burial, amounted to $5,000.

The state charged she murdered for hate and greed. She acknowledged an abnormal interest in "root doctors, spiritual advisers and fortune tellers."

BENEATH ST. PETER'S — The coffin containing the remains of Pope Pius XII is lowered into the crypt beneath St. Peter's Basilica amid full ceremonies paying homage to the Pontiff.

Trouble Spreads to Churches

Little Rock Methodists Uphold Segregation

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — There were rumblings of a possible denominational split here today as the local point of Little Rock's integration troubles switched from schools to churches.

About 300 persons formed a Council of Methodist Laymen

Monday night with the announced intention of combating church integration. They indicated they would favor a split from the national Methodist Church if it doesn't change its policy.

And a segregationist minister claimed a victory when a Southern Baptist group did not move to oust him from its ranks, as he had predicted it would.

City Awaits Ruling
Even as the city awaited another crucial federal court ruling from St. Louis Wednesday on the status of its closed high schools, there were indications that church segregation will play a bigger role in the ever-growing struggle here.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, Arkansas president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said she has tried to dissuade a Little Rock Negro from his campaign to integrate a white church.

But she said she was unable to get any assurance from Albert Hudson, 45, that he would give up his efforts.

Hudson and other Negroes have appeared at the Second Baptist Church for two consecutive Sundays. They were turned away the first time and on the second occasion left when asked to listen to the sermon over a speaker in the basement.

The Methodist Church's General Conference has taken a stand favoring racial integration since the Supreme Court's 1954 desegregation rulings.

Requiem Services For Pope Continue
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Requiem services for Pope Pius XII continued today before a symbolic coffin in St. Peter's Basilica as more cardinals arrived to elect his successor.

The late pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was buried Monday in the grotto beneath St. Peter's. An empty coffin was placed in the church for mourning Masses that continue through Sunday.

The titular Bishop of Adana, Msgr. Diego Venini, stepped before the coffin in the Chapel of the Chorus and celebrated today's Mass.

Cardinals in Vatican
The cardinals already in the Vatican later in the day were to receive members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Holy See. Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, dean of the College of Cardinals, is presiding over their official functions until a new pope is chosen.

On Sunday, when the nine-day mourning period ends, the cardinals will receive special envoys of foreign governments paying their respects to the late Pope. The U.S. envoys will be Secretary of State Dulles, former Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce and John A. McCone, director of the Atomic Energy Commission.

About a dozen cardinals were expected to arrive today to join the 28 already in the Vatican. All but two of the 55 cardinals probably will be here for the conclave beginning Oct. 25 to elect a new pope. The two who won't make it are Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac of Yugoslavia and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary.

Stewart Is Youngest Member of Top Court
WASHINGTON (AP) — Potter Stewart, a 43-year-old Ohioan, today becomes the Supreme Court's youngest member in dual oath-taking ceremonies.

For four years, he has been a judge of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. With one exception, he is the youngest man in modern times to be appointed to the Supreme Court. Justice William O. Douglas was only 40 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him in 1939.

Stewart fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Harold H. Burton, 70, a fellow Ohioan.

With Stewart's appointment, President Eisenhower now has named five of the court's nine members. The others are Chief Justice Warren and Justices Brennan, Harlan and Whittaker. Justices Black, Frankfurter and Douglas were appointed by President Roosevelt, and Justice Clark by President Truman.

French Officers Give Up Politics In Algeria

DeGaulle Wishes to Insure Honest Parliamentary Vote

ALGIERS (AP) — French military officers withdrew today from the revolutionary Committee of Public Safety for Algeria on orders of Premier de Gaulle to get out of politics.

De Gaulle gave the order in an effort to insure honest, impartial parliamentary elections in Algeria without army interference.

Army officers have worked in the committee with European settlers who dominate political life here with their opposition to Algerian independence. The committee and smaller local ones rose to effective control of Algeria in the May 3 uprising which resulted in De Gaulle's return to power. He has ignored them since, letting them wither on the vine.

Held Special Meeting
The big Central Committee for Algeria and the Sahara held a special meeting to study the Premier's order and to set the stage for a dramatic walkout of its military members. They left 15 minutes after it started.

A joint chairman of the group was Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu, a hard-bitten and colorful paratroop leader. He and a group of colonels who also served on the committee worked closely with the diehard settlers. The officers have been widely accused of Fascist tendencies.

The Premier's order appeared aimed at thwarting hopes of European extremists of enlisting army help in the campaigning for the elections next month. The extremists were believed planning to put up pliable Muslims as candidates.

In presenting a program to improve Algeria economically, De Gaulle promised Oct. 3 that Algerian Muslims would get 45 of Algeria's 66 seats in the new French National Assembly. About 90 per cent of the Algerian population is Moslem.

Interest Demand Election
The Premier said in a letter to Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in Algeria, that the best interests of France demand an election with "absolute freedom and sincerity and that lists representative of all tendencies — I say all tendencies — be allowed concurrently and equally to solicit the suffrage of the electorate."

The worst danger, he added, "would be the formation of lists solely favored by the official authority."

The Premier's instructions were in sharp contrast to army conduct in the referendum last month on the constitution of the Fifth French Republic. The army barred all campaigning against the constitution while working successfully to turn out a large vote for it.

De Gaulle said no one could run for Parliament who was in the military, a civil servant, or had held military or government posts within the last year. All others are eligible except "those who participate in terrorism and, because of this fact, are liable to prosecution," he said.

Body Is Discovered Under Cement Sacks
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton detectives struggled with some interesting, but difficult-to-answer questions today. For example:

How did the body of a neatly dressed young man wind up under 15 bags of cement in a construction shack on Dayton's west side? Who was he and what was his fate?

The body, which a deputy coroner says had been there for several months, was discovered Monday by 16-year-old James Smith of Dayton, who saw a foot protruding from the sacks. A newspaper newsboy was dated Jan. 6.

At this stage, fingerprinting is impossible, but identification may be possible through dental work, the coroner said. An autopsy is planned. But authorities say one thing is sure:

"He didn't pile those bags on himself."

Man Bound Over In Shooting of Stepson
LISBON — Henry William Bradberry, 48, of Gander Flats pleaded not guilty Monday night before County Judge Samuel Crawford on a charge of shooting with intent to kill or wound.

He shot his 14-year-old stepson, Orin Edwards, in the right foot at their home Sunday afternoon. Bradberry told deputies he threatened Orin with a .22 caliber rifle to make him behave. The gun accidentally discharged, he told deputies. The boy is in fairly good condition in Salem City Hospital.

Bradberry was bound over to the grand jury under $1000 bond. He is confined in county jail in lieu of his bond.

Ike Celebrates 68th Birthday On Joyous Note

650 GOP Leaders Sign Mammoth Birthday Card

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower celebrates his 68th birthday today on a generally joyous note.

But the anniversary has a somber aspect, too, in the farewell tribute the President arranged to pay to Pope Pius XII.

Eisenhower, pictured by aides as feeling fine, starts observance of the day with a salute from Republican leaders who are counting on him for much help in the congressional and state election campaigns.

With Mrs. Eisenhower also invited to the breakfast party, the GOP leaders had ready for the President a mammoth happy birthday card signed by the 650 well wishers expected at the affair. Also on hand was a huge floral piece shaped in the form of a cake.

Respond With Pep Talk
Advance indications were the President would respond with a brief pep talk telling the Republicans again they can win in November if they will get out and work hard. Party candidates face uphill battles in many areas.

Eisenhower himself will take to the campaign trail Friday on a six-day tour into the Midwest and to the Pacific Coast.

The President arranged to attend, shortly after the breakfast session, a pontifical requiem Mass at St. Matthew's Cathedral for Pope Pius XII. Eisenhower accepted an invitation extended by the Most Rev. Ameleto Giovanni Cicognani, papal delegate to the United States.

The President's birthday observance probably will be climaxed by a family dinner at the White House tonight.

Nationalists Are Looking for U.S. Guarantee

Secretary McElroy Confers With Chiang Kai-Shek

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Vice President Chen Cheng said today the Nationalists will not reduce the strength of their garrisons on the off-shore islands.

The Nationalists reportedly will not consider any sizable withdrawal unless the United States gives unequivocal guarantees of immediate intervention if the Reds attack the weakened outposts.

The United States has not been willing to do this so far. Washington's idea reportedly is to give Chiang's forces more firepower and better weapons so they can defend the islands with less troops.

Urged By McElroy
This presumably was urged by U.S. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy in two conferences with the Nationalist President Monday. But local newspapers including semi-official organs continued to denounce the idea of a cut in the offshore garrisons.

McElroy visited military installations in the Pescadores Islands today, between Formosa and the mainland, and then joined the U.S. 7th Fleet en route to Manila.

Nationalist officials continued to insist that the Communists would resume hostilities when it suits them. They contended that the Reds had extended their ceasefire for two weeks because they had lost the battle of Quemoy, and any reduction of the islands' garrisons would convert a Communist military defeat into a political victory.

Both the Communists and Nationalists continued to strengthen their installations in the Quemoy area.

Classes Will Resume In Colorado School

ELKHORN, Colo. (AP) — Classes are to resume Wednesday for the first time in nearly two weeks at tiny Elkhorn School in northern Colorado.

Mrs. Esther Murphy, 58, is out as the school's only teacher. Mrs. Florence Collins of Guernsey, Wyo., is in.

Mrs. Collins, mother of four and wife of a construction worker, was hired Monday by the Jefferson County School Board to take over the one-room school and 14 pupils, including her own children.

Elkhorn School became a center of controversy Oct. 3 when eight parents with 10 children enrolled here withdrew them from class.

They protested that Mrs. Murphy, in her first year here, was incompetent and couldn't maintain discipline. They advised School Board officials they would return their children only when Mrs. Murphy resigned or was fired.

The School Board sided with Mrs. Murphy. She remained at the school during class hours, but without students.

The standoff lasted five days. Mrs. Murphy resigned last Friday without disclosing her future plans.

Mussle Asked For Cockney Cage Bird

LONDON (AP) — The upper crust folk of Esher Park Avenue are demanding a legal muzzle for the Cockney cage bird that whistles girls and sings like a drunken sailor.

The bird is an Indian mynah, one of the more articulate members of the starling family. It lives in a superheated aviary at one of the biggest houses on the respectable, three-lined avenue.

Its raucous repertoire—rendered largely in Cockney accents picked up from a friendly garbage man—sends outraged shudders through the sedate, suburban neighborhood.

Wolf whistling seems to bore the mynah fairly quickly. But then it launches into the song "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor" in a voice like that of a matelot lurching from the grog shop.

When this palls, the bird can give a passable imitation of suddenly screeching car brakes, throwing scares into many a passer-by.

The mynah's owner, John Luttmann, was summoned to court passer-by.

The mynah's owner, John Luttmann, was summoned to court Monday, accused of keeping a pet that causes "a serious nuisance."

Businessman Clifford Blackmore complained that he can hear the bird over his garden hedge from dawn till dusk. On summer evenings he has trouble getting the children to sleep and finds it unbearable to sit out in his garden.

Luttmann, a 49-year-old potato importer, stoutly maintained that his pet is "pretty and amusing."

The case was adjourned for the weekend.

Pilot of Balloon Had Temperature of 104

ALAMOGRADO, N.M. (AP) —

The young pilot who rode the Air Force Man High balloon to the stratosphere last week ran a high temperature for hours.

But a surgeon who supervised by remote control from the ground says Lt. Clifton McClure never became delirious and responded to directions properly all through the flight last Wednesday.

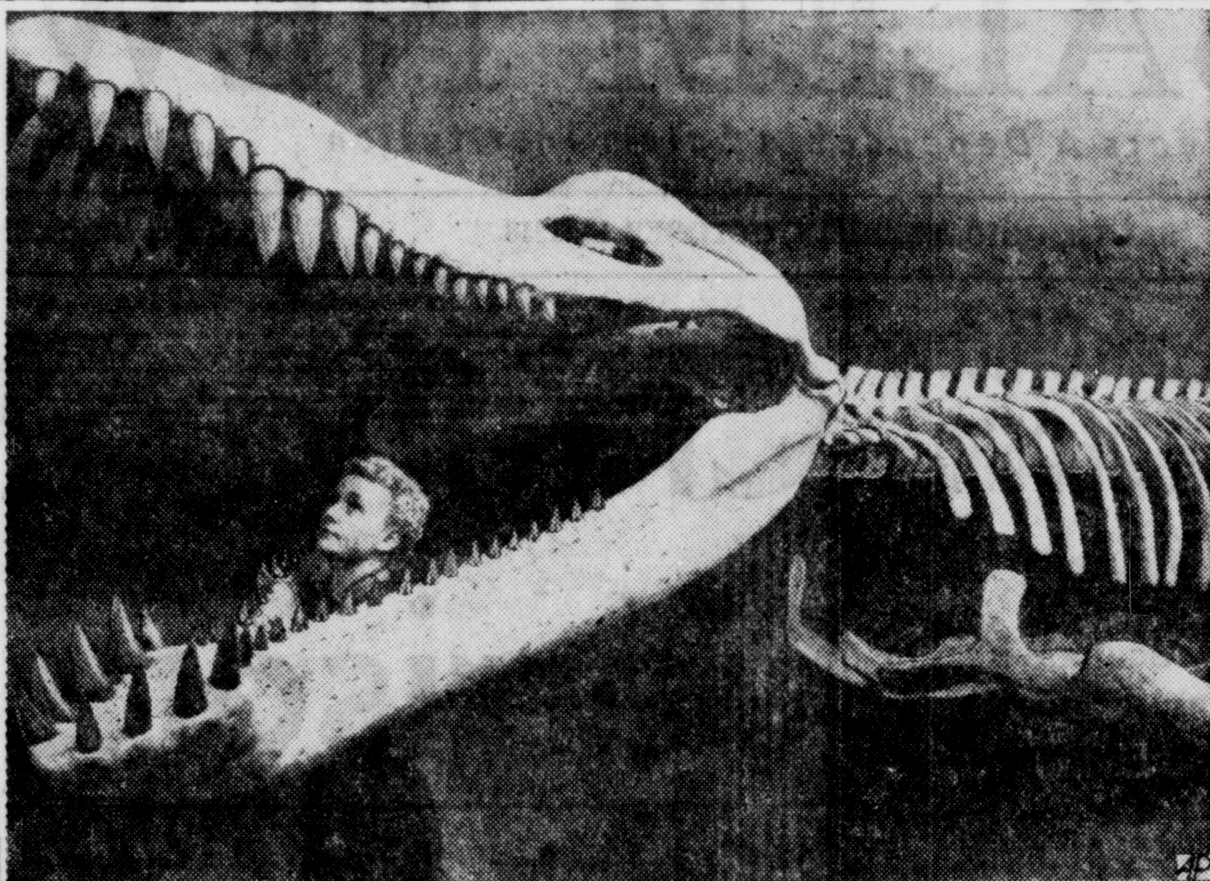

McClure, 25, sought to rise to 100,000 feet and stay there 24 hours to relay observations back to scientists on the ground. He reached 99,600 feet, but his sealed metal cockpit capsule overheated, and he had to return to earth 17 hours short of the time he aimed for.

Lt. Col. R. R. Hessberg, chief of the aeromedical field laboratory at the Air Force Missile Development Center, where the flight took place, said McClure's temperature, electronically recorded, registered 106 at its peak.

Hessberg emphasized that it was corrected to 104 after error in the electronic system was taken into consideration.

Currently, Baird is attending graduate school at Carnegie Institute of Technology, on a teaching assistantship in the department of civil engineering. He will receive his certificate as an engineer in training in November and will be presented with a complimentary membership in the Mahoning Valley Society of Professional Engineers. He received the degree of bachelor of engineering at Youngstown University last June.

County Court Expenditures Exceed Income

The revenue of the three county courts in Columbiana County for the first eight months of operation totaled less than half of the expenses connected with the offices, County Auditor I. J. Vorndran reported today.

The expenditures totaled $11,728 as compared with the aggregate income of $5,669.

The expenses are broken down as follows salary, $7,261; stationery and supplies, $934; equipment, $1,407; and miscellaneous, $2125.

The revenue consisted of fines and court costs.

The income of the central and southern district court located at Lisbon was the largest of the three $3,919. The district is comprised of West, Hanover, Center, Franklin, Wayne, Washington, Yellow Creek and Wellsville townships.

The eastern district court at East Palestine collected $1562. Fairfield, Unity, Elkrum, Middleton, Madison and St. Clair townships are in this district.

The northwestern district court at Salem composed of Perry, Salem, Butler and Knox townships, took in the least amount of revenue, $187.

The courts were established by state legislature which abolished

ed the justice of the peace system. The courts have jurisdiction in motor vehicle cases, over misdemeanors and other actions which formerly were handled by the justices.

The courts have authority to hear and rule in civil actions involving sums of money not in excess of $300.

Ohio Should Save the Individual

Ohio voters will be called upon at the November election to pass judgment on the following proposed amendment to the state constitution:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

It says that Ohioans shall be free to join or not to join labor unions, but that the choice must be personal.

No one else can impose it by any form of legal sanction.

This newspaper believes Ohio voters should preserve freedom of choice as a basic right of citizenship.

That right has been denied by compulsory union membership.

We believe this basic freedom can best be preserved by approval of the proposed amendment.

THE LATE Sen. Roert A. Taft accepted compulsory union membership in the Taft-Hartley Act because of legislative conditions existing in 1947.

The subsequent abuses that have been disclosed by the McClellan committee on improper activities in the labor or management field never can be stopped as long as corrupt labor leaders can force employers to collect union dues from the very members who may be trying to overthrow their leadership.

The unions the Taft-Hartley Act was designed to protect when unions were relatively weak now have grown so strong they need to be protected from themselves.

Eventually, Ohio and other heavily industrialized states will have to bring labor unions back into balance with the other elements of free enterprise. It might as well be done in 1958.

This is not a showdown between black and white, or between devils and saints.

It is a long-term public policy issue in which there are good and bad elements on both sides.

We are aware that some of the backers of the proposed amendment to ban the union shop are would-be union-busters.

We have no sympathy with their motive.

We are just as aware that some of the opponents of the proposed amendment, though they purport to be the voices of organized labor, speak for no one but themselves.

We have no sympathy with their motive, either.

If all employers are all unions were perfect, there would be no need for a showdown. Neither side would be capable of abusing human rights.

But employers and unions are not perfect. Public policy must take their imperfections into account.

That is why we favor the proposal to ban the union shop in Ohio, though we had no objection to it when it was included in the Taft-Hartley Act a decade ago.

NO OHIOAN can understand the issue without knowing its background.

The purpose of the Wagner Act of 1935—organized labor's Magna Charta—was to give workers the privilege of joining a labor union if they felt like it. The law guaranteed the right in this language:

"Employees shall have the right of self-organization, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in concerted activities, for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection."

That is the foundation of modern labor unionism.

No one is proposing that it be tampered with. But no one can be blind to the fact labor unions have gone far beyond the original concept of their right to exist as voluntary organizations and in some cases have abused the Taft-Hartley Act's sanction for union-shop membership.

The union shop has been used as a device to sign away individual freedom of choice about membership in a private organization.

It gives an employer and a union the right to make an agreement between themselves to abridge the right of a third party.

The ultimate effect of this trespass on individual rights could well be such a strong and angry opinion against unions that rank-and-file members, themselves, would be hurt.

But if the union shop ban could be imposed before opinion had been inflamed by further abuses, only the leaders of the unions would be inconvenienced.

Henceforth, they would have to be sure their service to the membership was of such good quality they could hold the members' loyalty and collect dues on a basis of merit, not coercion.

The long-range effect of restoring the right of individual workers to join unions if they felt like it and not to join them would be to strengthen the good unions and pull the strings on the bad ones.

It would do, the easy way, what the politicians have been trying to do the hard way—give rank-and-file workers complete control over the officers of their labor organizations.

The penalty for misbehavior would be rebellion among the members.

IF A LABOR UNION claims to be a voluntary organization, there must be nothing involuntary about belonging to it.

It must be able to attract and hold members in the same way all other voluntary organizations hold them—churches, clubs, fraternal organizations, associations and even political parties. The right to join labor unions never was intended to be the right to make someone else join them involuntarily.

Eighteen states already have banned the union shop, as it was provided that states could ban it in the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, which gave it legal sanction.

Besides Ohio, the states of California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, and Washington are having showdowns this year.

It is, in a very real sense, a showdown on a philosophy of life in America.

The showdown is between voluntarism and compulsion—whether men shall be free to join and support what they choose, themselves, or whether the choice can be made for them by "superior authority."

The "superior authority" in a union-shop agreement is the employer and the union.

If the compulsionists win, we can think of nothing to hold them back in the future. They can get their heads together to line up everybody in organizations, good, bad and indifferent.

IT HAS BEEN OBVIOUS from the beginning of discussion last spring that both sides realize this is the battle of a lifetime.

Ohio voters have drawn the assignment of making a key decision on a major point of public policy in the United States.

This needs to be understood. It explains what is happening.

Ohioans are being bombarded by both sides with every known device to influence public opinion. It is not easy to concentrate on the principle at stake: Whether the individual right of a citizen to decide what he will join or not join can be suspended by an agreement between an employer and a labor union.

We do not believe Ohio should force its citizens to join anything they do not want to join of their own free will.

players read the TV magazine instead of baseball writers. It is plain human nature for TV performers to put emphasis on personality, novelty routines and their value in the dramatic moments. The day may come when the most highly rated first baseman in a league can be an Elvis Presley.

Would a home-run king with a Milton Berle confidence be satisfied with 25 per cent?

Would a Jimmy Durante consent to play third base without a piano?

NEW YORK COP, John B. Gaul, has inherited $2,500,000, and it's nice to hear of a policeman getting that kind of break. Cops have tough going, with their lives at stake daily. They are kept busy by thieves looking for money, and by people with money trying to keep it. They are ever deep in crimes with money at the root.

When one himself strikes it rich, a cheer is called for. The only question is how a cop must feel when life is suddenly made soft and safe. The switch from constant peril, stern duty and hassles with assorted punks to the golf course, the Union League Club and tax consultants can be hard.

It won't be easy for a cop, retired as a millionaire, to hear, "There's a gunman down the street," to reply, "Can't you see I'm busy playing billiards?"

HELEN HAYES in "Touch of the Poet" (which we at first thought was about a poet asking for a loan) gives an unforgettable portrait of a womanly type seldom glorified these days: a shabbily treated, overburdened wife, knowing little domestic happiness but sticking by her man through life, steadfast and devoted.

Possibility of Tripping Over the Little Fellow

Spending Unlimited

By RAYMOND MOLEY

LOS ANGELES

In a preceding column I pointed out that the Democratic State Convention in August adopted a platform which the party sought to keep under cover as long as possible. Finally, after numerous leaks and much prodding by the press, the party issued it in printed form.

This document is not in the tradition of party platforms which call for long, discursive elaborations of nothing. It is a specific program embodying the purposes of the labor union leaders who dominate the Democratic Party in the state.

Moreover, if gubernatorial candidate Edward (Pat) Brown wins, a legislature will be elected which will be dominated by the same interests, and the state may anticipate the adoption of a substantial part of this program.

Indeed, the legislature is already evenly divided, since over the past 10 years the labor union machine, very powerful out here has aimed at its control and has made substantial gains.

IN MY PRECEDING piece I described two of the major provisions of that platform. The first is the Walter Reuther formula to establish a government boycott on goods produced by any firm "charged" with unfair labor practices and also against a producer on whom a strike has been called.

The tax provisions of the platform would cut and ultimately abolish the sales tax and put the increased burden on state income and corporation taxes.

The enormity of this revolutionary overhauling of taxes becomes apparent not only when the present state expenditures are calculated, but after an appraisal of what the new spending programs advocated in the platform will cost when adopted by an obedient legislature and governor.

Here irresponsibility is equally flagrant. There is a state medical care and hospital insurance plan—an old scheme to open the door to governmentalizing the medical profession; state old-age pensions to be raised and the age limit lowered; pensioners to be permitted by federal legislation to earn more without deductions from their benefits; unemployment compensation raised to 65 per cent of a worker's wage, plus an additional $5 a week for at least 39 weeks.

It has been pointed out that this would enable an unemployed worker with five children to get a bigger income without working than by getting a new job.

Very significant is a provision calling for the repeal of present legislation placing a certain responsibility upon children able to contribute to the support of needy parents.

This provision is characteristic of the whole welfare program embodied in this platform. It means that personal, individual, moral responsibility for those of one's own flesh and blood—embedded by Providence in all human beings—must be engendered in a messy, generally called by eggheads "social responsibility."

'Face' Is Important

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Alice in Wonderland quality sometimes evident in U.S. relations with Red China often finds expression in public statements by admirals and generals.

There is at times the impression that the State Department and the Pentagon are pursuing different policies.

Secretary of State Dulles and Acting Secretary of Defense Quarles have taken steps to erase any such impression from the minds of the people who work under them.

Quarles told a news conference last Thursday: "In tense times such as those, almost any statement regarding the military situation has political overtones, and frequently overtones that might not be realized on the other side of the Pacific. We are asking people to be very careful about comments about the military situation that could take on political implications."

Similar instructions have been sent out by Dulles.

Quarles' comment came two days after the U.S. Pacific air commander, Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, credited Nationalist air victories and U.S. blockade—running for Red China's cease-fire offer in the Formosa area.

"We are all Chinese," the Communists now say. And they are ready to exploit any possible justification for their propaganda cry that "America is the common enemy."

Red China's main goal now appears not so much to conquer the Nationalist coastal islands and headquarters on Formosa as to remove the American presence from the Formosa area.

"We are all Chinese," the Communists now say. And they are ready to exploit any possible justification for their propaganda cry that "America is the common enemy."

lands on Aug. 23, has been to stop the shooting. Whether the Reds stopped for humanitarian reasons, as Peiping claimed, or because they were failing, as Kuter says, or to negotiate a settlement, a Dulles offer, was beside the point, so far as the State Department is concerned. The point was they had stopped.

"Face" is important to all people, but especially to the Chinese. If the Reds were looking for an excuse to call off all bets and resume raising a ruckus, statements questioning their motives or implying weakness might provide that excuse.

Judges In Judgments

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Judges Sometimes Have Personal Interest in Case

This is the story of a case that might be called "Frankfurter vs. Frankfurter." It concerns a struggle of conscience which justices of the Supreme Court undergo when they are faced with the question whether or not they should disqualify themselves from judging any case in which they previously have had a personal interest or connection. This very problem had arisen with respect of Justice Frankfurter before it came up again a few days ago when The Standard-Times of New Bedford, Mass., published an exchange of letters with him about his 10-year affiliation with the legal committee of the national assn. for Advancement of Colored People.

Justice Frankfurter wrote that it was true he had for a long time, while a professor at Harvard Law School, given advice on "policy" matters to the legal committee of this organization. He wrote that the connection was terminated when he became a Supreme Court justice and added that he never had accepted any monetary compensation.

Perhaps the best single statement of a judge's problem in meeting a "conflict of interest" where there has been no commercial or financial connection previously, but where emotions and personal feelings may be involved, was made by Justice Frankfurter, himself.

He gave a public explanation on May 26, 1952, of why he had declined to participate in the decision of a case about the broadcasting of music that annoyed passengers on a Capital Transit Co. bus in Washington. It had caused some of them to bring suit to declare such broadcasting a violation of both the first and fifth amendments of the constitution.

HERE IS what Justice Frankfurter in "recurring" himself — which is the legal expression for self-disqualification — wrote at that time:

"The judicial process demands that a judge move within the framework of relevant legal rules and the conventional modes of thought for ascertaining them. He must think dispassionately and submerge private feeling on every aspect of a case. There is a good deal of shallow talk that the judicial robe does not change the man within it. It does. The fact is that on the whole judges do lay aside private views in discharging their judicial functions. This is achieved through training, professional habits, self-discipline and that fortunate alchemy by which men are loyal to the obligation with which they are entrusted.

"But it is also true that reason cannot control the subconscious influence of feelings of which it is unaware. When there is ground for believing that such unconscious feelings may operate in the ultimate judgment, or may not unfairly lead others to believe they are operating, judges recuse themselves. They do not sit in judgment. They do not sit in judgment of reasons. The guiding consideration is that the administration of justice should reasonably appear to be disinterested as well as be so in fact.

"This case for me presents such a situation. My feelings are so strongly engaged as a victim of the practice in controversy that I had better not participate in judicial judgment upon it. I am explicitly as to the reason for my non-participation in this case because I have for some time been of the view that it is desirable to state why one takes himself out of a case."

MANY LAWYERS now are pointing out that Justice Frankfurter apparently felt so deeply about a case in which the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People was a party that he was not content to stand on the written opinion which he and the eight other justices issued last Sept. 29. He felt impelled to give out a few days later a separate opinion of his own in addition.

This lengthy document was replete with emotional phrases and oratorical exclamations, thus causing many lawyers to comment that Justice Frankfurter may have been revealing the same type of "subconscious feelings" which prompted him to disqualify himself in the bus case.

It is not the first time Felix Frankfurter has been criticized for sitting in a case in which he had a prior part to coming on the Supreme Court bench. In 1917, he was chief counsel for a three-man commission appointed by President Wilson to investigate labor troubles in the principal mines of the Phelps-Dodge Co. in Arizona. The report aroused bitter comment from former President Theodore Roosevelt.

In April 1941, Justice Frankfurter wrote the opinion in a Supreme Court case on labor questions which was decided against the Phelps-Dodge Co., and many lawyers said at the time he should have disqualified himself.

Justices often disqualify themselves from sitting in cases in which they have had previous connection with either party to the litigation. Non-receipt of a fee isn't always the controlling factor. Thus, a Supreme Court justice who has served as attorney general or solicitor general usually disqualifies himself from sitting in any case in which he has had some part, personally. There are no fees paid the attorney general or solicitor general for particular cases in the work of the Department of Justice.

There are no written rules of the Supreme Court requiring a justice to disqualify himself when he has had a previous connection with either party to a suit that comes before the court. The problem is left to the conscience of each justice.

Stock Trading

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The bubbling stock market delights the bulls and especially the brokers. The bulls see chances for financial gain. The brokers pocket a present gain—the commissions on the shares they buy and sell for traders.

Talk of fat bonus payments to brokerage house employees at Christmas time grows.

But for all the excitement in Wall Street, most stockholders seem to be just leaving their shares in a strong box. They may check the newspapers each day to see if they have a paper profit or a paper loss. For the most part, however, they are just sitting tight.

The public may be in there, buying and selling right along with professional traders, but if so it's only a small part of the public.

One reason given is that if they sold stocks which have increased in market value this year as the popular indexes climbed to new highs, they would have a capital gain on which to pay taxes.

Another is that they would have cash to be invested elsewhere—and if they buy other stock they will have to pay its new record price, too.

Friday 4,610,000 shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange. This was the biggest day's volume since December 31 when 5,070,000 were bought and sold.

But for all that, the 610 is only a smidgeon of the number that could have been sold. The exchange lists 4,855,096 shares available for trading.

The exchange's magazine points out today that in the first eight months of this year the turnover ratio—the volume actually sold as against the total that could have been—is 13 per cent, only slightly more than in much quieter 1957. And it is practically nothing at all compared with sprightly 1900 when the turnover was 172 per cent of shares then available — and they numbered a more modest 59,579,694.

In nine of the years since World War II the turnover ratio has been higher than this year. Average daily trading volume was higher only in 1955.

More shares available for trading have been added each year. The exchange notes that since 1950 the total listed has advanced by 115 per cent. But in 1950 the turnover was 23 per cent.

Since 1950 the gross national product—total output of goods and services — has increased 28 per cent, even after adjustment for price changes.

If stock trading had grown by the same percentage, the average volume this year would have been more than 5,000,000 shares a day instead of the eight month average of 2,542,697.

One result of this slowing down percentage-wise in stock trading brokers say, has been to make a thin market. When demand for some stock spurted, there weren't too many shares available for trading. Some of the big swings in prices have been due to this.

In other words, that multitude of stock stashed away in strong boxes has acted as a sort of corner in stocks.

If more were available for trading, an occasional rush of buying wouldn't send prices swinging so far.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

From the slim priest, dwarfed only physically by the vast stage and the cavernous hall in which sat thousands of men of power, there came these words—sobering words to the men before him whose power sprang from their leadership of millions of American working men:

These were the early words of Monsignor George Higgins' invocation at the last AFL-CIO convention, the convocation which ousted some corrupt forces. But the chidings invoked by Msgr. Higgins could have been the warnings of a score of labor priests reflecting the teachings and labor philosophy of Pope Pius XII.

For there was more in His Holiness' own concern over the working man than the mere inveighing against corruption by men who lead unions.

DURING HIS LIFETIME, in private conversations in the U.S. and other lands and in his public pronouncements, the Pope was ever concerned over the crushing impact of "bigness" on the individual. Despite his support of organized labor in all free lands, His Holiness spoke out against the bigness of labor as well as the vastness of industry and capital.

Corruption, he warned, compounded its own evil by utilizing bigness to regiment into faceless millions of workmen. In the Red East, it was political corruption. In the Free West, it was the corruption of gold.

Searching through Pope Pius XII's public views on labor and capital, the most characteristic seems to be in his 1952 Christmas message. Here is found the constant theme, the warnings against depersonalization. One scholar, Father Cronin, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, has written in the "The Catholic Mind":

"It (the theme) was also found in friendly warnings to the labor movement, cautioning unions lest they repeat the mistakes made by capital in the 19th Century. It colored his comments upon economic progress."

HIS HOLINESS spoke out against exploitation by capital wherever he found it in the world.

But the Pope reiterated that, if the only answer to big business was to be big labor and big farm groups, what voice would the individual have in determining his economic and political destiny?

Thus, for example, he spoke out against what the Germans call "co-determination." This word refers to the successful effort of German unions to become co-managers of the huge iron and steel industries there. Today, though they have no ownership rights, the unions sit on the boards of directors of the big companies determining the sales, personnel, production and profit distribution as well as policies of the giant corporations in those two fields.

Thus from 1949 to 1951, the Pope warned against co-determination which separates ownership from actual full control of productive property. The Pope said that labor should not, as a matter of right, demand a voice in the management of a firm.

THIS WOULD LEAD to excessive centralization of economic power. This theme recurs again and again in the Pope's attitude towards those upon whom, for any reason, the workingman depends for his daily bread.

Always he considered the middle class as an "essential segment" of the citizenry of each country.

Across this panorama woven over the decades by Pope Pius, the crusades of America's labor priests became more meaningful in the humble homes of workmen. It gives greater depth, for example, to the fight of the "waterfront priest," Father John Corridan, to the wide counseling of Msgr. Higgins, to the challenge to the mob by Father Jerome Drolet in a

The Appeal of Savings Bonds

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

There is an enchanting symbol of all that is great in our land traveling about the U.S.A. today. Perhaps you'll be as fortunate as I and have the privilege of meeting Mrs. U.S. Savings bonds, 31 year-old Dorothy Severance. She has left two small children at home in Nashville, Tenn., and as a volunteer is broadcasting far and wide the virtues of thrift and the need for supporting the Treasury via the purchase of savings bonds.

All of us, I am confident, want to support the Treasury. We are aware that an impressive portion of the current deficit results from expenditures needed to defend our freedoms. We are eager to support such government programs as social security, public works and many other projects.

MANY BELIEVE that in order to combat inflation we, whose incomes are at an all-time high, should be asked to buy more and more government bonds. I strongly support this only.

It is a big one. I don't like to see thrifty homemakers or any other segment of our population buying any kind of a product for which they are not getting the best possible return on their dollars of investment. The rate of return on the issues Mrs. U.S. Savings Bonds is selling is open to some question.

The current top interest on savings bonds, 3 1/2 per cent, barely makes up for the annual loss of purchasing power. I'm all for buying Mrs. Savings Bonds' product, but I'd be a lot happier about it if Congress had granted the Treasury permission to pay out 3 1/2 per cent or more.

AFTER WORLD WAR II Canada was faced with an economic situation similar to ours—a budget deficit, the need for large scale refunding of government issues, the threat of inflation. Canada solved her problem by offering her citizens a swap deal. Short term Victory Bonds were exchangeable for higher-interest, longer-maturity issues. A modest cash bonus was offered citizens as an incentive to make the exchange.

Only in a small way are we following Canada's example. A month ago the Treasury offered individuals and private estate holders of some 4.3 billion dollars' worth of Series F and G bonds maturing between now and April.

1964, the privilege of switching to E. and H. BONDS. The switch would give bond holders higher interest—3 1/4 per cent against 2 1/2 per cent—and shorter maturity.

In today's bond market the government is faced with some pretty tough competition for its product. Corporate bond interest rates have risen to over 4 per cent.

I'd like to see Mrs. Savings Bonds have a "sweeter" product to sell because I think we should be counted upon to share a larger burden of the deficit. Instead of simply appealing to our patriotism and thrift, I think her product should be tailored to appeal to our financial good sense as well.

Artist Goes to Great Lengths

ROMAN PAINTER RENATO JAVARONE goes to great lengths to attain the proper perspective in art. In fact, taking the long view, he does his canvases from distances of 10 to 12 feet. Despite the unorthodox method, Javarone displays considerable skill using king-sized brushes mounted in special holders which make the brushes even longer. His long-range style of painting permits him to judge his interpretation of his subject without walking back a few steps every so often, as most painters do. Javarone does not discard his extra-long brush even for closeup detail work on a painting. He just moves in closer and holds the long brush in the middle. With such a technique, Javarone needs plenty of elbow room, so he does most of his paintings in a garden outside his home.

Mirror helps artist gauge the distance.

Needing elbow room, he works mostly outdoors.

Javarone also creates translucent art on glass.

ESTHER WILLIAMS TO ESTABLISH
DISTRIBUTORSHIP IN SALEM, O.

1959 Distributor
Appointment
Program
Just Starting

The International Swimming Pool Corporation, world's leading manufacturer of home and motel swimming pools, has just launched the largest new distributor appointment program in the Company's history. International is the exclusive manufacturer of the famous Esther Williams Pools and is expanding manufacturing, service and training facilities in order to serve an additional 500 communities.

Backed by the biggest swimming pool publicity and advertising campaign ever announced in the industry, the new distributor appointment program is scheduled to be completed within six weeks.

This market has been selected by International's Marketing Committee for one of the new distributorships. An Esther Williams marketing executive will personally consult with home owners and motel owners and consider applications for the Esther Williams distributorship in this area (see box below).

DISTRIBUTOR
QUALIFICATIONS

Good character, a successful business background and a desire to build your own business are the prime qualifications for an Esther Williams distributorship.

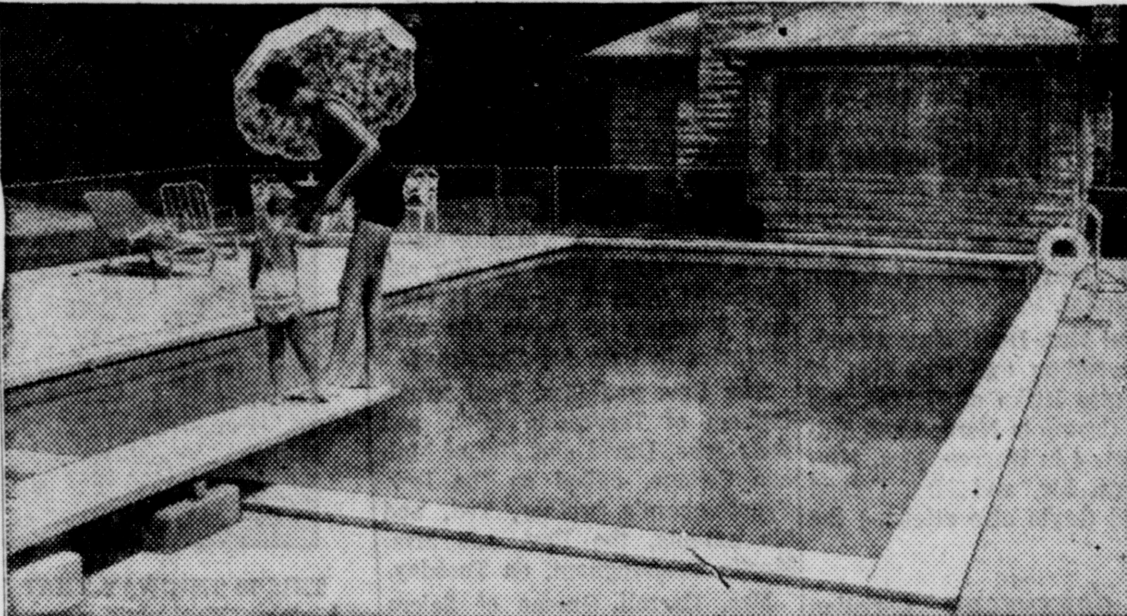

The home and motel swimming pool business has become one of America's fastest growing new industries. The Esther Williams Pool is the undisputed leader in this new industry, accounting for 30 to 40% of all the permanent-type pool business.

Industry sales have more than doubled every year for the past three years. Trade experts, however, point out that pool sales have not yet reached boom stage. Sales on a gigantic scale are expected to begin in 1959 and continue for many years to come.

No franchise fee is required of a new Esther Williams distributor. Distributor appointed will be expected to make a modest investment in self-liquidating inventory with big profit potential. Construction experience is not a requirement.

ATTENTION
HOME OWNERS

If you have an acquaintance who is interested in the exclusive Esther Williams distributorship in this area, contact the Division Marketing Manager at the address or telephone in box at right. If your recommendation is appointed, you will be entitled to an Esther Williams Family Swimming Pool at dealer cost!

America's Largest-Selling Family and Motel
Pool To Be Available In This Area

Esther Williams, glamorous president of International Swimming Pool Corporation and world famous authority on swimming and swimming pools.

why the Esther Williams Pool is outselling all others by a wide margin.

"First, it's the safest pool with the exclusive safety walk all around, the flat play area and the safety cover. These features give parents peace of mind. Being the mother of three energetic children, I can assure you these wonderful features give me peace of mind."

"Secondly, an Esther Williams Pool is built to last because of the rigid construction standards established by our Engineering Department—poured concrete, steel reinforced throughout and covered with exclusive Perma-Seal Poolskin which eliminates costly painting expenses.

"The third basic reason is that an Esther Williams Pool is complete in every respect for convenience, maximum family fun and the most economical maintenance—everything including filter, underwater light, stainless steel ladder, laminated diving board and 10 other items. There are no hidden extras to buy."

"And, the fourth reason more people from coast to coast are buying this complete pool than any other is the integrity on the part of Esther Williams distributors to provide the finest possible pool at lowest cost."

The Division Marketing Manager
for Esther Williams Pools,
MR. EDWIN A. HAMALA

is in Salem to consult with home owners interested in home pools and to talk with distributor applicants for this area. For an appointment call or write him at the address or number below:

Have you visited Headquarters for a Second Income?

More and more families are looking into the possibility of a second income by visiting what we might call Headquarters.

If you don't know Headquarters, you ought to. They're the Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange. They've helped millions of people along the road to extra income through sensible investment in stocks or bonds. Here's how they can help you.

First. When you invest, you need facts and intelligent advice. It's foolish to depend on tips or rumors. Stock and bond prices go down as well as up. A company may not pay a dividend or interest, may not make a profit. So you drop in at a nearby Member Firm, where you'll be most welcome. You may say to a Registered Representative or a Partner something like this: "I'm not rich. But I have money left over after paying my bills. And my emergencies are cared for. How can I best use this extra cash to bring me extra income from investments?"

Second. The man (sometimes it's a woman) is glad to share his knowledge with you. Before anyone can become a Registered Representative with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange he must meet Exchange requirements for character, knowledge and experience. He may advise bonds instead of stocks. He may give you (ask him for it) a copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS," with the records of more than 300 stocks that have paid a cash dividend every year from 25 to 109 years. He can help you work out a sensible investment program for your needs and pocketbook. And from time to time ask him to review your securities with you.

Third. You've decided to buy, let's say, some common stock on the New York Stock Exchange. This will make you part-owner of a company. If it prospers, that can be mighty pleasant, because you can share in any profits and probably in any growth. The Member Firm sends your order promptly to its representative on the floor of the Exchange. This is the great market place where orders to buy or sell securities come together from investors all over the country. The stocks and bonds of most of the famous corporations of America are listed there.

Fourth. On the floor of the Exchange, your Member Firm's man finds a seller, often within minutes after you've placed your order. And whisk! the order is executed. The only charge for this experienced service is a modest commission that varies with the amount of your order.

That night at the dinner table you say quietly to the little woman, "Darling, I'm part-owner of a big American business." If she doesn't glow with gratitude, wait for the arrival of your first dividend check. Then look out for the lipstick.

If you're impatient to get more information (and why not?) send this coupon now and we'll mail you your free copy of the immensely helpful booklet that gives the records of all those stocks. It also describes the Monthly Investment Plan, through which you can acquire stocks on the New York Stock Exchange for as little as $40 every three months up to $1000 a month.

United School 6-Mill Levy On Ballots

Renewal of a six-mill school levy will be balloted upon by voters in the United Local School District at the Nov. 4 election.

The levy must be renewed each five years for continued support from the State School Foundation Program. Without the state assistance, the school would be forced to close, according to Oran Weingart, president of the United Local School Board.

The new program provides that a school district must have an operating levy of 10 mills to receive state funds.

This year the United District received $127,000 from the state for the operation of the school. The current six-mill levy expires Jan. 1, 1960.

If this levy is renewed, the total rate of 14.8 mills will still be below the average of the state and lower than most surrounding districts. If the six-mill levy is not renewed, the total operating rate would be 8.8 which is insufficient to warrant state assistance.

The present enrollment at the school is over 1,150. The largest class is the first grades which contain 129 boys and girls. Five of the grades have over 100 pupils each and nine of the 12 grades have over 90 pupils. Eight teachers were added to the staff this year, making a total of 46 teachers.

Sixteen school busses transport all the children, and over 800 pupils have been served hot lunches in the school cafeteria.

Benedictine Dumped
From Unbeaten Class

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will have a new high school football champion this year.

Cleveland Benedictine's Bengals, rulers of the realm in 1957, were dumped from the unbeaten list last week by Massillon, 19-0. The defeat, Benedictine's first in 19 games, also pushed the Bengals out of the top 10 in The Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers.

Benedictine, which hadn't lost since Massillon triumphed in 1956, wrecked Massillon's championship bid a year ago by 13-7.

Fifth-place Elyria, sixth-place Benedictine and seventh-place Toledo Libbey were erased from the top 10 as they suffered their first losses. Libbey was a 12-8 victim of Lima, while Marion Harding jumped all the way from ninth to

Whitey Ford Wins
ERA Crown in AL

NEW YORK (AP)—Southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees captured the American League earned run title in 1958 for the second time in his career. It also marked the fifth time in the past seven seasons that a Yankee pitcher has finished on top of the ERA listings.

Ford posted a 2.01 ERA, figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed today. The 29-year-old hurler, who led the league with a 2.47 mark in 1956, allowed 49 earned runs in 219 innings.

Stu Miller, a slow-ball pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, recorded the lowest earned run average in the National League, 2.47. The journeyman performer, who also has seen service with the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phils, gave up 50 earned runs in 182 frames.

A pitcher must work at least 154 innings to be eligible for earned run honors.

Ford won 14 games and lost 7, but was hampered by a sore arm in the last month of the season. Nevertheless, the sturdy lefty completed 15 of his 29 starts, including seven shutouts — tops in both leagues.

Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox was runnerup to Ford with 2.68, having yielded 73 untainted markers in 245 innings. Detroit's Frank Lary and Baltimore's Jack Harshman were tied for third with 2.90 each while Billy O'Dell of Baltimore ranked fifth at 2.97.

Miller sported a lack-luster 6.9 won-lost record. His six victories were the fewest ever produced by a major league earned run titlist. The 30-year-old right-hander closed fast, however, permitting just 12 earned runs in his last 61 innings.

Sam Jones of the Cards, the NL strikeout kingpin, trailed Miller with a 2.88 ERA. He was touched for 80 earned runs in 250 innings. Milwaukee's Lew Burdette was third at 2.91, followed by teammate Warren Spahn with 3.07. The Phils' Robin Roberts and the Giants' Johnny Antonelli were tied for fifth with 3.27 apiece.

Woody Hayes Blasts
'Dirty' Grid Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Having given football followers something to talk about, Ohio State's Woody Hayes went back to work with his unbeaten Buckeyes today, reading for Saturday's invasion by twice-whipped Indiana.

Hayes casually tossed a live grenade into a press luncheon Monday with charges that grid officials are allowing dirty football. The men in the striped shirts are watching for sins by the offense and letting the defense get away with (1) piling on, (2) driving the ball carrier back after the whistle, and (3) flailing arms and elbows, Hayes maintained.

The answer? "Just let the officials warn the guilty team once, then drop a red flag on the next pile-on violation. That would stop it in a hurry," Hayes declared.

He said he's forwarded the complaints to Big Ten commissioner Tug Wilson.

BOOSTERS TO MEET

Salem High Football coach Earle Bruce will address the Boosters Club when they meet Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Memorial Building.

The meeting has been moved to Wednesday from Thursday because of the Salem-Wellsville football game Thursday.

The Cadets, on the strength of their 14-2 victory Saturday, were voted into the No. 1 spot today by the sports writers and sportscasters participating in the poll.

Auburn, still unbeaten, slipped to second place. The Cadets received 77 first-place votes and a point total of 1,611, to 54 first-place votes and 1,434 points for Auburn.

Three teams dropped out of the top 10 entirely. Notre Dame, fourth a week ago, dropped to 12th. Oklahoma, a good second last week, dropped to 11th as a result of its one-point defeat by Texas. Pittsburgh, No. 10 a week ago, fell out of sight through being trowned by Michigan State. Texas came up to 7th from 16th by defeating Oklahoma. Navy moved from 12th to 6th on its victory over Michigan, and LSU came up from 11th to 9th by whumping Miami, 41-0.

Ohio State, victor over Illinois, moved up from fifth to third place, and Wisconsin moved from sixth to fourth. Michigan State also advanced, jumping from ninth to fifth through its showing against Pittsburgh.

Clemson was in 10th place.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

I heard an interesting story come out of last Friday's game against Wooster. It was one of those deals where you hear a story from a guy who heard it from someone else who in turn heard it from a third party.

Well anyhow it involves a comment made by a Youngstown East scout who was sitting on the Wooster side. East is Salem's foe Oct. 24 and as you might expect, the Bears' Pete Lanzi has been keeping his eye on the Quakers in preparation for the tilt.

This scout replied that the Salem-Wooster game was the easiest one he had scouted this year for East.

The scout said that Salem mentor Earle Bruce was "foolish" in respect to the strategy he used in the Wooster game and the tactics he used in the Brookfield contest.

This scout, it was discovered, had scouted the QuakerWarrior game also.

He said that Salem seemed to bar no holds and continued to use semi-razzle dazzle plays although three and four touchdowns ahead of Wooster but against Brookfield, when they were behind 26-0, did not pass much and continued to run the ball primarily.

This is not a conclusive and 100 per cent accurate report by the East spy but it still has some truth to it.

SALEM trailed Brookfield 26-0 going into the final quarter. They had passed previously in the game but not to the extent they did in the final period. During one touchdown drive quarterback Kent Malloy hit on three of three passes for 61 yards.

Against Wooster Salem led 19-0 late in the third quarter. Just before the end of the third frame Salem started a drive on their own five.

Salem proceeded to march 95 yards in 10 plays for a score. But, look at some of the plays they used.

With second and three at their own 12, Ralph Ehrhart took a "lateral" and ran 11 yards.

Later Salem faced a second and two at their 31. Here Malloy passed 15 yards to Ehrhart for a first down.

I could readily see what the East scout meant from witnessing this next play.

Salem had a fourth down and one from the Wooster 45. What happened here! Malloy passed 39 yards to Bill Hone for a first down on the Wooster six.

IN ALL three cases a running play would have been more appropriate for a first down considering that the game was in the last period, it was 19-0 and that it could be presumed enemy scouts were on hand.

What the strategy of the Salem staff was it their business but it still is highly questionable.

I'm convinced Salem could have beaten John Marshall if they would have used the plays they did the very next week against Ravenna.

So Salem held back against Marshall and they lost. They opened up against Ravenna and won. Why shouldn't every game carry the same significance. There are no high school bowl games or mythical conference titles.

Salem led Wooster 33-0 with but 4:15 left in the game. Bruce substituted freely here but left Benny Jones at quarterback. No reflection on Jones' ability but the fact that he is a senior carries two strikes against him. I couldn't understand why an underclassman did not direct the team so that he might gain some experience.

Gary Devan, a sophomore, did play but with only 53 seconds left.

I'M NOT trying to tell Mr. Bruce how to coach his team, I'm just merely questioning what he does execute.

Salem plays Wellsville this Thursday at Reilly Stadium beginning at 8 p.m.

Wellsville has a 1-3-1 record. One of their losses was 60-14 from Austintown Pitch.

They have only four regulars from 1957 and are coached by Ken Woods, formerly of Fairfield-Waterford.

The game should be a replica of the Wooster affair.

McMurtry to Meet
Canadian Fighter

NEW YORK (AP)—Reversing the usual westward trend, Pat McMurtry has come East to rebuild his boxing reputation.

The 6-1, 188-pound heavyweight has compiled a fine 29-2-1 record and has attracted some big gates in his home territory of Tacoma, Wash.

"It was time to get out," said the crew-cut fighter. "No matter how well you do, people get tired of the same faces. I've had all my fights in the West.

"Then, too, you get more recognition for a big win in New York. No matter how much you beat a guy somewhere else, it counts more here.

"Take those ratings. I'm listed fifth or sixth and then all of a sudden I'm not even listed any more. I lost just two fights—both close — to Willie Pastrano and Willie Besmanoff. I was sick before the Besmanoff fight but I didn't want to pull out. So right after the fight I got pneumonia. And then I'm out of the ratings. How do they make them up anyway?"

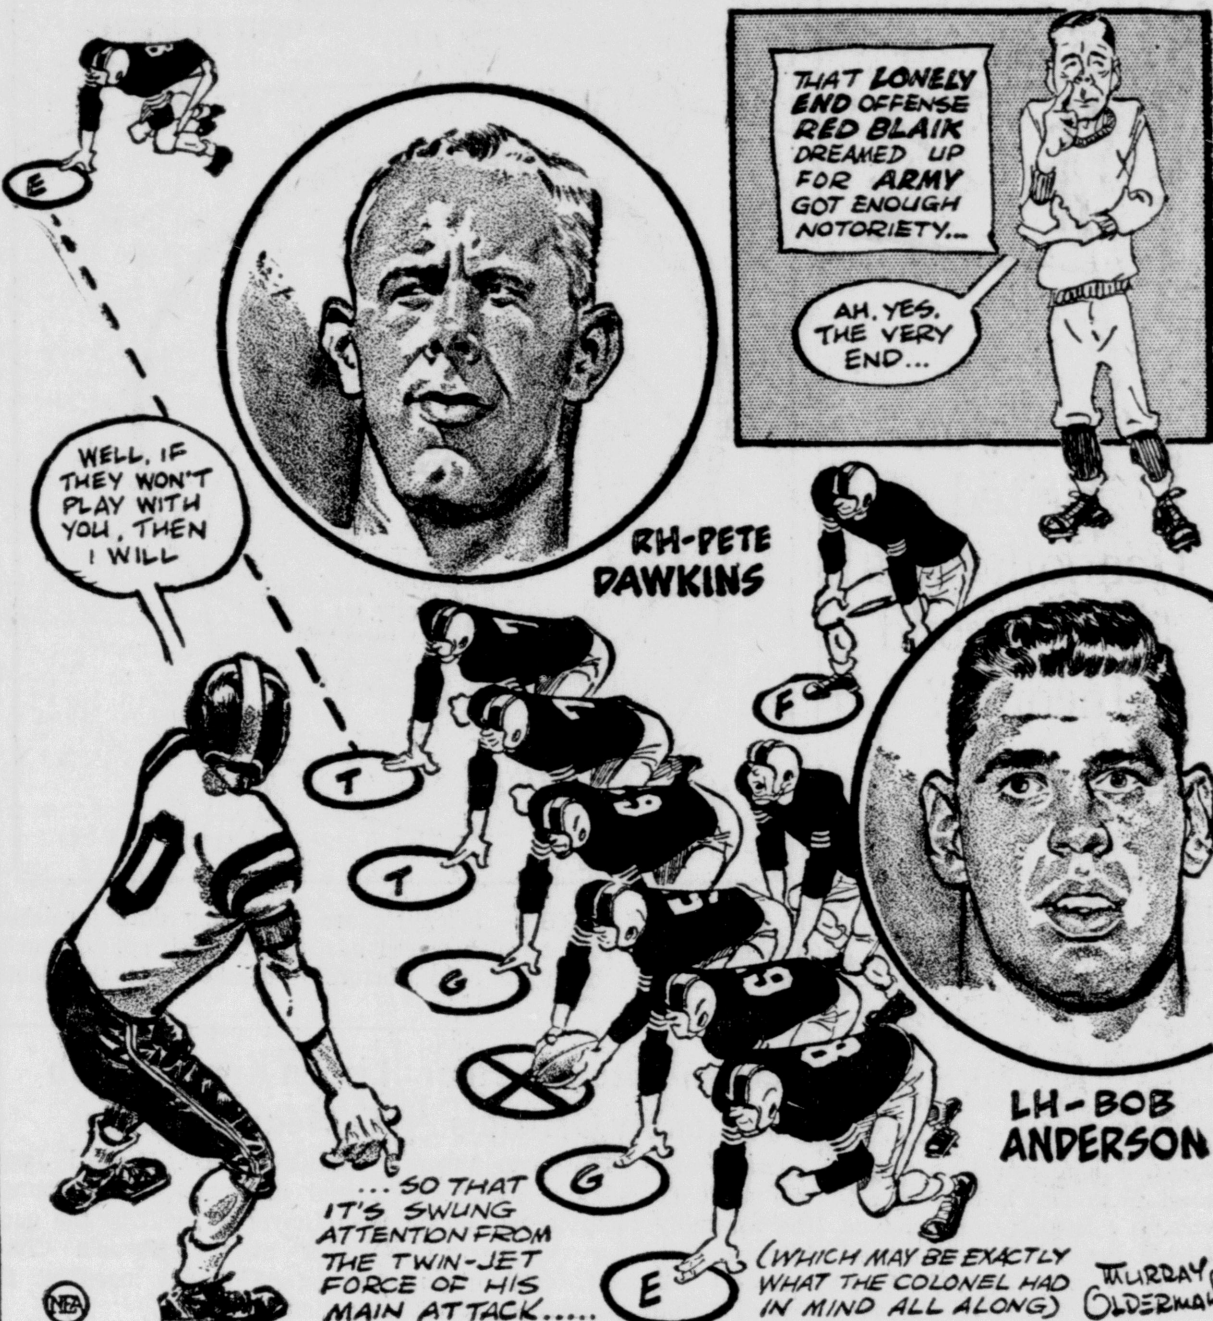

The 26-year-old ex-Marine hopes to climb back into the elite list with a victory over George Chuvalo, the Canadian heavyweight king, in the radio-television feature at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Chuvalo, 21, 6-1, and 210-pounds, has an 11-2-1 record, including eight knockouts. He is ranked 10th by Ring magazine.

Chuvalo, touted as a potential topnotcher by a couple of ex-champs, Jack Dempsey and Rocky Marciano, is the 7-5 favorite.

'Lonesome End' Proves Valuable

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army Coach Red Blaik dreamed up his new celebrated "lonesome end" offense while basking in the Florida sun last winter.

He didn't have a name for it then. It was tacked on later by Stanley Woodward, sports editor of the Newark Star-Ledger. Then others changed it to "lonesome end."

Blaik's own assistants were skeptical at first. There was some nervousness before using it in the first game against South Carolina, which had beaten Duke the week before.

These fears diminished when South Carolina was smashed 45-8 and Penn State beaten 26-0. They completely evaporated after the 14-2 victory last Saturday over Notre Dame, raising Army to the No. 1 ranking in the country.

"We couldn't have beaten Notre Dame without it," says Blaik.

Army's "lonesome end" is Bill Carpenter, a 6-foot-2, 205-pound hurdler and sprinter from Springfield, Pa. Instead of lining up with the rest of the team he parks himself 18 to 25 yards away near the sidelines.

Many teams have split their ends and sent the wingman out wide on "sleeper" plays. But Army's "lonesome end" is different. He sets up housekeeping out on the flank.

He doesn't even go into the huddle. He gets the plays by some device which is top secret and classified info at the academy. The main value is that the op-

Odyniec Lost to Notre Dame; Michigan's Herrnstein Injured

By The Associated Press

Winning football games can be tough enough without losing players who are as valuable as life insurance.

This is the problem facing quite a few coaches today as they begin prepping for Saturday's games.

Take Notre Dame's Terry Brennan. The Irish coach must recoup his loss from their 14-2 loss to Army last Saturday, and at the same time prepare for a dangerous Duke team. To add to this, he will probably be without the services of Norm Odyniec, converted from fullback to halfback for the Army game because of his running prowess.

Odyniec is out with a bruised shoulder. Brennan must rely on Jim Crotty, whose place Odyniec took against Army, in being completely mended from a leg and thigh injury.

The Irish, winners of two games before meeting Army, have not been an offensive powerhouse in the past. They have scored just 34 points, allowing only 21. Brennan has his strongest, though not his fastest, backfield of the season against Army.

Michigan's Bennie Oosterbaan has lost fullback John Herrnstein for the season, because of injuries suffered in the Wolves' 20-14 loss to Navy.

That was the Wolverines' first loss after a 20-19 victory over California and a 12-12 tie against Michigan State. The big senior fullback figured heavily in both and his replacement, Tony Rio, will have to carry the burden, against predominantly Big 10 teams from now on.

Bill Meek's Southern Methodist team won its first of the year against Missouri 32-19 Saturday, and without ace quarterback and passer, Don Meredith, Meredith is on crutches after being injured in the 14-6 loss to Notre Dame Oct. 4. Whether he will be available for Saturday's Rice game is questionable. Meek also is hoping to have end Ray Sherer, injured when SMU lost to Ohio State 23-20, in an effort to keep his offense in high gear.

Minnesota, winless in three games by a total of 13 points, lost halfback Arlie Bomstad, leader, 7-3 loss to Northwestern, and fullback Rezer Hargrave. The Gophers play winless (0-3) Illinois Saturday.

Washington State plays defense. Quarterback Bobby Newman, who has helped his team account for 90 points in four games, for a 2-2 record. Newman was injured against Idaho Saturday and is listed as WSC's offense.

The Ivy League has its share of trouble too, but with a ray of sunshine. Princeton lost tailback Dan Sachs for at least three weeks when he hurt his back against Penn. His replacement, John L. Sullivan, proved more than adequate in leading the Tigers to a 20-4 win, their second straight after a 28-0 loss to Rutgers. Brown probably will play Penn this Saturday without halfback Bob Carlin, the Bruins' most consistent performer.

Elsewhere, Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson kept on yanking the backfield after the 15-14 upset loss to Texas. He also moved three men into the first team line for the Kansas game Saturday. Boston College (1-2) will have to do without quarterback Don Allard against Marquette, and Coach Mike Delovick will have to dig deep as two other first line quarterbacks also are unavailable because of injuries.

Jimmy Brown Leads League In Rushing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Husky Jimmy Brown of Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns is leading the National Football League in ground gaining with more than half as much yardage in three games than he pounded out in last year's entire 12 games schedule. Now in his second year of pro football, Brown gained 942 yards in 1957. In the first three games of 1958, he has accounted for 482 yards in the unbeaten Browns. Cleveland's "bread and butter" guy has carried the ball 75 times, averaging 6.4 yards per effort and 160 yards a game. He's taken dead aim on Steven Van Buren's seasonal yards gained rushing title of 1,146, set by the former Philadelphia Eagles' star in 1949.

Tom Wilson of Los Angeles ranks second in the race, carrying the ball with 280 yards, followed by newcomer Earl Mitchell, also of Cleveland, with 262, and Jon Arnett, Los Angeles, 253. Little Eddie Lebaron, the lightest man in the league, has the heaviest passing average. The mighty miler, as he is known in the pro football world, sports a per pass average of 9.6 a throw. In all, Lebaron has tossed 44 completed 25 for 426 yards and two touchdowns. His percentage of completion is 56.2.

Mack Reynolds, the Chicago Cardinals' rookie quarterback, is second with a 9.5 average, 37 for 62, 601 yards gained, 5 TDs and a 58.7 completion percentage. Billy Wade of Los Angeles follows with these figures: average 8.55, 42 for 74, 633 yards, 4 TDs, 56.8 completion percentage.

In other departments these are the early season leaders:

Pass receiving — R. Berry, Baltimore, 19 caught for 266 yards and 3 TDs. R. C. Owens is second with 16 for 187.

Scoring — Brown of the Browns 48 points on — TDs, John Crow of the Cards is second, 5 TDs, 30 points.

Punting — Don Chandler, New York Giants, averaging 46.2 yards to 45.7 for Sam Baker of Washington.

Punt returns — Billy Wells, Philadelphia, 5 for 91 yards, averaging 18.2. John Morris of the Chicago Bears is second, 4 for 48 yards and a 12 yard average.

Kickoff returns — Len Lyles of Baltimore, 3 for 147 yards and a 39 yard average. Green Bay's Al Carmichael is second, 3 for 15, a 38.3 average.

Pass interceptions — Andy Nelson of Baltimore and Pittsburgh's John Butler, tied with 4 each.

SHARE AND SHARE ALIKE — Walls are confining, even for pint-sized members of the goat family, but this enterprising young kid decided to overcome the obstacle. Seems Mr. Donkey, another inhabitant of a farm in County Sligo, England, was getting all the tidbits from kindly passersby. In order to be seen better by the passing public, the kid mastered the art of climbing the donkey's back. By leaps and bounds the goat got his share of the carrots.
